

COVID-19 Supplemental Paid Sick Leave (SB 114) - Notice Requirement

As previously reported, Governor Gavin Newsom signed legislation (SB 114) on February 9, 2022, which reinstated COVID-19 Supplemental Paid Sick Leave (SPSL); providing eligible employees up to 80 hours of paid leave for COVID-19-related issues. As the measure was passed using early budget action, there was a 10-day grace period before employers had to comply with the new law on February 19, 2022. The SPSL is retroactive to January 1, 2022 and will remain in effect through September 30, 2022.

In addition to complying with the leave requirements by February 19, 2022, employers must also include certain information on employee paystubs and post notice about the law in the workplace.
